

Clinical depression is common. Over 9 million Americans are diagnosed with clinical depression at some point in their lives. As they are not seeking treatment, more people are suffering from clinical depression.